LOYOLA FINALIZES 1968-69 ATHLETIC STAFF

The Department of Physical Education and Athletics at Loyola announced the appointment of four new members to their already impressive athletic staff.

Linda Rejall replaces Fran Laurie as Supervisor of Women's Physical Education and Athletics. Miss Laurie has relinquished her post to concentrate on full-time studies.

Miss Rejall, a University of New Brunswick graduate and a native of Montreal West, will direct the supervision of all Loyola women's intercollegiate teams - hockey, basketball, volleyball, swimming, field hockey and cheerleading in the Ontario-Quebec Women's Conference of Intercollegiate Athletics. She will also direct the intramural program as well as take charge of the west end school's co-educational sports clubs which include judo, karate, modern dance, skiing, archery, figure skating and bowling.

Alex Sidorenko, another native Montrealer is a second appointee and will be the new junior varsity basketball coach. Sidorenko has coached three teams to provincial championships and has led two other clubs to Canadian finals. His squad will be defending their Junior Varsity League Championship this year.

Sidorenko succeeds Larry Rozzi as jayvee mentor. Rozzi is leaving Loyola to devote full time to his expanding food service business. He will however, remain active with Loyola as a scout for Doug Daigneault's Varsity Warriors.

"Larry made a great contribution to our program during his two years with us and we certainly want to wish him the best in his growing business," commented Ed Enos, Loyola's Director of Physical Education and Athletics.

Sidorenko is a former player and coach of teams from the Sun Youth Organization, University Settlement Orchids and a physical education instructor and basketball coach at the Snowden YNHA.

A third addition to the Loyola staff is Masayuki Hisataka, who will take over the Karate and Judo program. Hisataka, who was originally sent to Montreal to give karate demonstrations at Expo last year, is a seventh dan black belt in Karate, which makes him the highest ranking karate expert in Canada. He also holds a fifth dan in judo, tops in Quebec.

The other new member of the athletic staff is Victoria Tansey, who will be in charge of Loyola's modern dance group.
